

Energy Efficiency & Old Houses

Saturday, January 23, 2010

10am to 12pm

Stoddard Baptist Home

1818 Newton Street, NW

Metro Station: Columbia Heights

Buses: S, H and 42

Winter heating bills got you down?

We all want to make our houses more comfortable and efficient. Green technologies offer opportunities to save money while helping to protect our environment and can be implemented without sacrificing the architectural integrity of your home or violating historic district guidelines. Come learn about energy audits and what home improvements are the most cost effective with particular attention to the issue of window repair, replacement and integrity.

Speakers are Pascale Maslin, the founder of Energy Efficient Experts, an energy audit firm specializing in reducing energy costs while making environmentalism accessible, and John Sandor, an architectural historian and expert in the repair and replacement of windows in historic buildings.

FREE to Historic Mount Pleasant and DC Preservation League Members.
$10 to non-members.

Light breakfast included.

Register to DC Preservation League by calling 202.783.5144
or emailing rsvp@dcpreservation.org

www.dcpreservation.org
www.historicmountpleasant.org

